

The Hamerlanden trail

Description

The area around the hamlet of Kostvlies is quite special. The name Kostvlies (‘loss of investment’) suggests an infertile landscape, but nothing could be further from the truth! Together with Vereniging de Hamerlanden, the foundation Drents Landschap and local entrepreneurs, the Hondsrug UNESCO Global Geopark aims to tell the story behind this special location. Follow the Hamerlanden trail for 6.5 kilometers as it has been laid out by the Vereniging de Hamerlanden and you’ll be walking through a unique landscape, formed thousands of years ago by the ice ages.

Human activity

Along the way you will see that not only the ice ages have left their mark on the landscape, but it is also the result of thousands of years of human activities in the area!

Het Zandgat (the Sand Pit), an old sand quarry

The Hamerlandenroute takes you past special places where man has resolutely put the shovel in the Hondsrug ridge. More than a century ago, the Ravijn (‘‘canyon’’) was excavated in order to be able to build a railway line through the Hondsrug, with a station at Gasselte. Further on you come to the Zandgat (sand pit), a deep hole in the Hondsrug created by sand extraction, which is now a valuable nature reserve.

Walk across the estate of the De Semslanden golf course, which was founded on the transition of sand and peat. Hundreds of years of hard work created the es (open fields) of Gasselte, balancing on the flank of the Hondsrug. These are all ingredients for an exciting walk, in which you experience all the core values ‘‘’’ of Geopark de Hondsrug over a short distance.
